Objective 1: Understand Acronyms & Jargon

What...

... is the FAFSA?

The FAFSA is the Free Application for Federal Student Aid; for students eligible to file a FAFSA, it is the most critical part of the financial aid application process. The FAFSA, which is a form, is used to determine the amount of money (or EFC) a family can "reasonably contribute" toward the cost of attending a postsecondary institution. The results from the FAFSA are used in the awarding of federal and state grants, work-study, and loans.

... is an FSA ID?

This is a Federal Student Aid Identification, which is used to access all Federal Student Aid websites, including fafsa.gov. The FSA ID consists of a user-created Username and Password. The student can create an FSA ID at any point prior to or after starting their FAFSA at fsaid.ed.gov. The student and, if student is dependent, a parent will require an FSA ID to complete the FAFSA. For a list of dependency questions to help determine dependency status, please see page 38. Additionally, please see pages 39-40 for more information on the FSA ID.

...is a SAR?

The SAR is the Student Aid Report; it is a summary (approximately five pages) of all the information entered into the FAFSA. The EFC can be found at the top right corner, on the first page of the SAR. Once the FAFSA is processed, the student will receive an email stating the Student Aid Report is ready.

... is an EFC?

The EFC stands for Expected Family Contribution. It is an indicator of a family's ability to pay towards the student's education. It is also used by financial offices to determine a student's eligibility for federal, state, and some institutional financial aid during one school year.

Objective 2: Know the How, Why, & When of FAFSA

How:

Students should begin by visiting fsaid.ed.gov to create their FSA ID Username and Password. The FSA ID allows students to securely access their FAFSA, as well as other Federal Student Aid websites, including the National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS).

After creating the FSA ID, students can file a FAFSA at fafsa.gov. REMINDER: The FAFSA is FREE; do not complete the FAFSA at any other website—you may be asked to pay.

Students must file a FAFSA for every year they hope to receive Federal Student Aid; this is not a one-time form.

Why:

Filing a FAFSA, for students who are eligible to do so, is the single most important part of the financial aid process. The FAFSA is the primary application for federal aid, need-based state aid, and some institutional aid. (NOTE: Students ineligible to file a FAFSA or who are unsure if they can file should contact The Scholarship Foundation for assistance).

It is very important for students to file a FAFSA as early as possible; some financial aid is first-come, first-served.

When:

The FAFSA for the next academic year opens October 1st each year. Students filing for 2021-22 can file their FAFSA on or after October 1st, 2020. REMINDER: Some aid is first-come, first-served.

In Illinois, state need-based aid is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis; filing ASAP is crucial. In Missouri, state need-based aid (Access Missouri) requires that a FAFSA be filed no later than February 1st for guaranteed consideration.

Many colleges have priority financial aid deadlines. Make sure you meet these deadlines; while researching these deadlines, find out if your college requires any other financial aid paperwork, such as the CSS Profile.

Objective 3: Identify the Correct FAFSA Website

FAFSA: Free Application for Federal Student Aid fafsa.gov

NOTE: Look for Federal Student Aid on the FAFSA website; double-check and make sure your website looks like the above and says fafsa.gov and nothing else! Remember, the FAFSA is free and other websites may charge you!

The 2021-22 FAFSA is also available to file on an app, myStudentAid, which is available through Apple and Google Play.

Objective 4: Recognize FAFSA Nuances & Common Pitfalls; Understand How to Address Unique Family and Financial Circumstances

Students may log in using their FSA ID. Students are encouraged create their FSA ID prior to starting the FAFSA.

Parents may log in using the student's personal identifiers to access questions related to parent demographics and financial information. Parents will need the student's SAVE KEY (see page 9).

It is not mandatory to read through these, but they provide good information about Frequently Asked Questions for the FAFSA.

Some of the information on the Student Demographics pages may be pre-populated with information used to create the student's FSA ID. This is one reason students are strongly advised to log-in with the FSA ID instead of personal identifiers.

Students who are high school seniors will likely indicate high school diploma for high school completion status. Additionally, even if they have dual enrollment or taken other college credits, most of these students will also indicate never attended college/1st year for their grade level in 2021-22.

Even if a student plans to pursue a graduate or professional degree, they should indicate their first degree, which will be a certificate; one of the associate degree options; or, 1st bachelor's degree.

Students who file a FAFSA are automatically considered for grants and student loans; students must opt-in to consideration for Federal Work Study.

Students are encouraged to respond "yes"; work study may be turned down later if not needed or desired.

The question asking about a student's sex is intended to determine if the student is required to be registered with the selective service. Male students who are over the age of 18 are required to register with the Selective Service; Federal Student Aid ties aid eligibility to this requirement. Students who are not yet registered will have the option to register through Federal Student Aid. Students not yet 18 need to ensure they register after their 18th birthdate.

The question about driver's license is a question that relates to state aid eligibility; some states require this information, but Missouri does not. Students may choose to skip.

Students must enter the name of their high school and are asked to SEARCH to locate the exact school for confirmation.

Students must list the college(s) where they hope to be considered for financial aid. Most students will NOT know the Federal School Code and will instead search by a combination of state, city, and/or school name. Schools are not required to be in any order; each college will only see their institution listed on the report they receive from Federal Student Aid, meaning they do not know what other colleges are listed.

Once a student has chosen their schools, they must indicate housing plans. Options include:

- With Parent
- On Campus
- Off Campus

The primary purpose of this is to help the school establish the student's budget for cost of attendance. For example, on campus housing would have a higher budget than living at home with a parent.

By selecting to View College Info, students can review several key statistics related to the college(s) listed on their FAFSA. This includes information pulled from the College Scorecard (collegescorecard.gov) on net price, graduation rates, retention rates, and transfer rates. Although these data may not be the pieces that make (or break) an enrollment decision, they should be considered in the decision-making process. For example, more than four years to graduate form a bachelor's degree program means more cost in tuition and fees, higher debt burden, and, an opportunity cost, due to lost wages from less time in the job market.

Students who file a FAFSA are considered dependent or independent. Dependent students are required to provide parent information; independent students are not required to do so. Dependency is determined from several factors; students are independent if they are at least 24 years old; working on a master's or doctorate degree; married; providing more than 50% of the financial support for a child or another dependent; a veteran or serving on active duty in the military; emancipated by a court; in court-ordered legal guardianship; a ward of the court or in foster care; or considered homeless or self-supporting or at risk of being homeless. Students not meeting any of these criteria are dependent.

NOTE: There are some students who meet the definition of a dependent student, but who are unable to provide parent information. The students may be eligible to pursue a dependency override, which will be addressed on the next page.

Students who are dependent must provide information for a biological or adoptive parent. The parent(s) reported on the FAFSA is determined not only by marital status, but also by physical custody. The student should report the personal and financial information for the parent with whom they lived more than 50% of the time in the past year.

If the student lives with a biological parent who is remarried, the stepparent's information is required.

If the student splits time equally between two biological parents, the student would report the information of the parent who provides more than 50% of the financial support.

If the student lives with both biological parents together in one household, their marital status does not matter—both parents' information must be provided. One marital status option is Unmarried but Living Together.

Personal information for parent(s) includes SSN, last name, first initial, and birthdate. In two-parent households, each parent's information will be entered on a separate page to avoid confusion. Remember, parents include biological and/or adoptive parents, as well as stepparents in the case of remarriage.

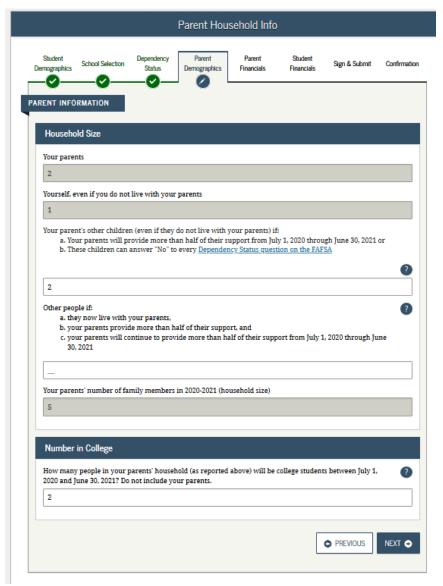

No one else is considered a parent on the FAFSA!

Household size can be tricky to report on the FAFSA. Students should include themselves; their parent(s); any siblings who receive half of their support from the parent(s) and/or can answer "no" to every dependency question on the FAFSA; and, anyone else (e.g., grandparent) who lives with their parent(s) and receives more than half of their support from the student's parent(s).

Parents who are enrolled in college may not include themselves in the total of number of people in the household who are in college. If parents are enrolled, they should speak with the financial aid office at the

The student's parent(s) will be asked if they filed federal taxes for 2019. Not all families are required to file; "Not going to file" is a selection option. Please be aware that tax complications and errors can delay financial aid and, in some cases, prevent the student from accessing aid altogether. If there are any questions or concerns about a tax circumstance and how it might impact financial aid eligibility, please contact The Scholarship Foundation or the financial aid office at the student's college of choice.

IRS Data Retrieval Tool (DRT)

What is the IRS DRT?

An online function that allows for student and parent tax filers, who filed a federal tax return, to electronically transfer processed tax information from the IRS into a FAFSA.

Is it required?

No, it is not required. However, it is strongly encouraged.

What are the benefits of the IRS DRT?

There are several benefits. First, it eliminates the need to manually enter tax information, which can be inaccessible and, if available, difficult to enter. Second, it significantly reduces the likelihood of needing to undergo the process of verification related to income. Verification can extend the financial aid process, delaying financial aid award letters and a student's ability to make an informed enrollment decision.

What happens if I cannot transfer my data?

You may still submit a FAFSA, but you may be asked to verify income with the financial aid office at the school(s) to which you applied to for admission. This may mean providing copies of an IRS Tax Transcript, a summary of a processed tax return.

Will I be able to see my tax information after it transfers?

No. Transferred tax information is encrypted and will not be viewable on the FAFSA itself or the Student Aid Report. This change is an effort to increase security and privacy. Because transferred data is not viewable, edits are not allowed.

Are there any tax-filers who cannot transfer tax information from the IRS?

Married tax filers, who filed separate returns, cannot use the IRS DRT. Information will need to be input manually. In addition, legal parents who are not married, but reside in the same household, will also need to manually enter tax information.

The parent(s) of a dependent student will have the opportunity to electronically transfer processed tax information from the IRS into the FAFSA. The parent will use their FSA ID to transfer access the IRS Data Retrieval Tool.

Parents who use the IRS Data Retrieval will see much of the detail on the next several screen shots transferred from the IRS into the FAFSA. Data is encrypted and will state Transferred from the IRS. All pertinent line items will be transferred, even if the transferred amount is $0.

In two-parent households, income earned from working will not transfer. As a result, it is advised that families have W2s, 1099s, and other wage/income statements readily available when filing a FAFSA.

Frequently Asked Questions

If my parents are divorced, whose information do I need?

Report the information of the parent with whom you lived the most during the 12 months preceding the date you completed the FAFSA. It does not make a difference which parent claims you as a dependent for tax purposes. If you did not live with either parent or lived equally with each parent, the parental information must be provided for the parent from whom you received the most financial support during the preceding 12 months or the parent from whom you received the most support the last time support was given. If your parents are divorced, but still share a household, both parents' information is required in the FAFSA.

What should I do if my parent with whom I live is remarried and my stepparent refuses to supply information?

If you are a dependent student and your parent is remarried, the stepparent's information must be included, or you will not be considered for federal student aid. If you believe that your situation is unique or unusual other than the stepparent's simple refusal to provide the requested information, you should discuss the matter further with your financial aid administrator at the college or university which you plan to attend.

How are 529 savings plans reported on the FAFSA?

There are two types of Qualified Tuition Programs: tuition prepayment plans and college savings plans (529s). Both will have the plan value reported on the FAFSA as an asset of the owner (not the beneficiary), except when the owner is a dependent student, in which case the plan is an asset of the parent. So, regardless of whether student or parent is owner, it is always reported as an asset of the parent. The plan value is not reported as an asset if the owner is another person (i.e., grandparent or non-custodial parent). In addition, plan values of a student's sibling are also reported when the parent is the owner of the plans.

Whose income do I report if I live with a grandparent, aunt, etc. (other than a biological or adoptive parent)?

The FAFSA is very clear—only biological or adoptive parent information should be included in the FAFSA. Students who reside with a grandparent, aunt/uncle, or another adult may, depending on circumstances, be considered an independent student, which means no parent/guardian information is required. Otherwise, students may need to pursue a dependency override or begin conversations with a parent to secure necessary information.

Federal Student Aid (FSA) ID

Federal Student Aid IDs (FSA ID) are a username and password, created by the individual student and/or parent. FSA IDs are used to sign the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and, as a result, are a crucial part of the FAFSA-completion process. All FAFSA-filers are required to create an FSA ID; if the student is dependent, a parent is strongly advised to create one as well. Here are a few recommendations regarding the FSA IDs.

- Create an FSA ID at https://fsaid.ed.gov.
- FSA IDs are linked to the user's Social Security Number. Please double check that the name, birthdate, and SSN used on the FSA ID application match what is listed on your Social Security card.
- Users are required to link an email address to their FSA ID; a second step in this process is verifying the email address by entering a secure code that has been sent to the email address listed on the application. The FSA ID is not finalized until the email address has been verified. Remember:
  - 1. A verified email address can be used interchangeably with the username, offering greater flexibility.
  - 2. If the username and/or password are forgotten, a user may send a secure code to their verified email, which allows for easier retrieval and/or reset.
- Users may also link a cell phone number to their FSA ID; again, a second step in this process is verifying the cell phone number by entering a secure code that has been sent by text message to the cell number listed. Doing so is strongly encouraged for two reasons:
  - 1. A verified cell phone number can be used interchangeably with the username, offering greater flexibility.
  - 2. If the username and/or password are forgotten, a user may send a secure code to their verified cell phone number, which allows for easier retrieval and/or reset.
- Show text when answering challenge questions to ensure they are typed as intended.
- Write everything down and save in a safe, secure spot.
- Although it is understandable the many reasons why students create parent FSA IDs (and vice versa), it is advisable to avoid this unless absolutely necessary. When it is necessary, one suggestion is to use the same password for both accounts, to minimize what detail needs to be remembered.
