Objectives

- Understand acronyms and jargon associated with the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid).
- Recognize the how, why, and when of FAFSA filing.
- Identify the correct FAFSA website and the form itself.
- Recognize various FAFSA nuances and common pitfalls; understand how to address unique family and financial situations when completing the FAFSA—and, what to do if your situation cannot be addressed within the form itself.
- Learn who to contact and how to proceed if your financial circumstances have changed and need to be communicated to the college for additional consideration.
- Determine what information and/or documents are needed to complete the FAFSA and understand where to obtain this information.
- Become familiar with dependency questions.

Objective 1: Understand Acronyms & Jargon

What...

...is the FAFSA?

The FAFSA is the Free Application for Federal Student Aid; for students eligible to file a FAFSA, it is the most critical part of the financial aid application process. The FAFSA, which is a form, is used to determine the amount of money (or EFC) a family can “reasonably contribute” toward the cost of attending a postsecondary institution. The results from the FAFSA are used in the awarding of federal and state grants, work-study, and loans.

...is an FSA ID?

This is a Federal Student Aid Identification, which is used to access all Federal Student Aid websites, including fafsa.gov. The FSA ID consists of a user-created Username and Password. The student can create an FSA ID at any point prior to or after starting their FAFSA at fsaid.ed.gov. The student and, if student is dependent, a parent will require an FSA ID to complete the FAFSA. For a list of dependency questions to help determine dependency status, please see page 38. Additionally, please see pages 39-40 for more information on the FSA ID.

...is a SAR?

The SAR is the Student Aid Report; it is a summary (approximately five pages) of all the information entered into the FAFSA. The EFC can be found at the top right corner, on the first page of the SAR. Once the FAFSA is processed, the student will receive an email stating the Student Aid Report is ready.

...is an EFC?

The EFC stands for Expected Family Contribution. It is an indicator of a family’s ability to pay towards the student’s education. It is also used by financial offices to determine a student’s eligibility for federal, state, and some institutional financial aid during one school year.

Objective 2: Know the How, Why, & When of FAFSA

How:

Students should begin by visiting fsaid.ed.gov to create their FSA ID Username and Password. The FSA ID allows students to securely access their FAFSA, as well as other Federal Student Aid websites.

After creating the FSA ID, students can file a FAFSA at fafsa.gov. REMINDER: The FAFSA is FREE; do not complete the FAFSA at any other website—you may be asked to pay.

Students must file a FAFSA for every year they hope to receive Federal Student Aid; this is not a one-time form.

Why:

Filing a FAFSA, for students who are eligible to do so, is the single most important part of the financial aid process. The FAFSA is the primary application for federal aid, need-based state aid, and some institutional aid. (NOTE: Students ineligible to file a FAFSA or who are unsure if they can file should contact The Scholarship Foundation for assistance).

It is very important for students to file a FAFSA as early as possible; some financial aid is first-come, first-served.

When:

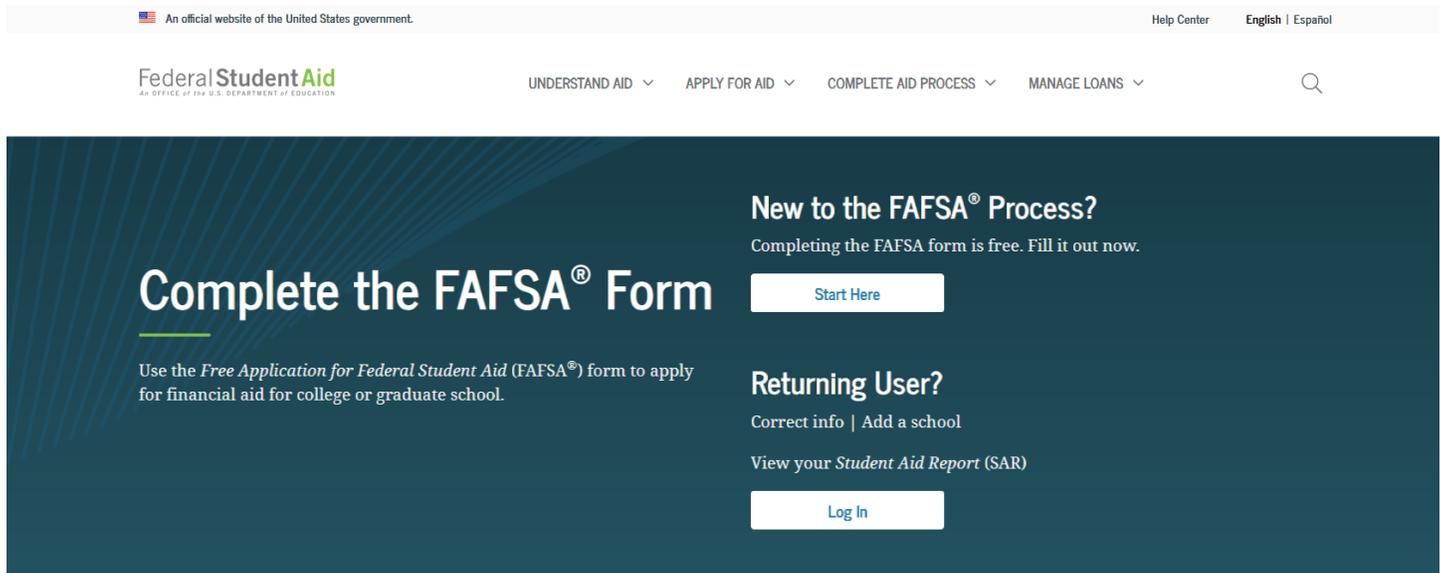

The FAFSA for the next academic year opens October 1st each year. Students filing for 2021-22 can file their FAFSA on or after October 1st, 2020. REMINDER: Some aid is first-come, first-served.

In Illinois, state need-based aid is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis; filing ASAP is crucial. In Missouri, state need-based aid (Access Missouri) requires that a FAFSA be filed no later than February 1st for guaranteed consideration.

Many colleges have priority financial aid deadlines. Make sure you meet these deadlines; while researching these deadlines, find out if your college requires any other financial aid paperwork, such as the CSS Profile.

Objective 3: Identify the Correct FAFSA Website

FAFSA: Free Application for Federal Student Aid fafsa.gov

The screenshot shows the FAFSA website homepage. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the text "An official website of the United States government." on the left, "Help Center" and "English | Español" on the right, and the "Federal Student Aid" logo in the center. Below the logo are four menu items: "UNDERSTAND AID", "APPLY FOR AID", "COMPLETE AID PROCESS", and "MANAGE LOANS", each with a dropdown arrow. A search icon is on the far right. The main content area has a dark blue background with white text. On the left, it says "Complete the FAFSA® Form" with a green underline. Below that, it says "Use the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA®) form to apply for financial aid for college or graduate school." On the right, there are two sections: "New to the FAFSA® Process?" with a "Start Here" button, and "Returning User?" with links for "Correct info | Add a school" and "View your Student Aid Report (SAR)", and a "Log In" button.

Please be aware that Federal Student Aid has moved nearly all of their websites into one platform: www.studentaid.ed.gov. Users who visit www.fafsa.gov will be redirected.

Some tips for using FAFSA on the web:

1. Microsoft's Chrome browser often does not work well with this website; consider a different browser if possible.
2. Using a pop-up blocker may prevent the FAFSA website from working to its full functionality, especially when trying to obtain the Student Aid Report (SAR); consider disabling for this website.

Students will log-in here, using their FSA ID.

The parent(s) of a student may log-in here to access the student's FAFSA.

NOTE: Look for Federal Student Aid on the FAFSA website; double-check and make sure your website looks like the above and says fafsa.gov and nothing else! Remember, the FAFSA is free and other websites may charge you!

The 2021-22 FAFSA is also available to file on an app, myStudentAid, which is available through Apple and Google Play.

Objective 4: Recognize FAFSA Nuances & Common Pitfalls; Understand How to Address Unique Family and Financial Circumstances

The screenshot shows the 'Login' page for the FAFSA system. At the top, there are navigation links for 'Home' and 'Help'. The main heading is 'Login'. Below this, there is a section titled 'Log in to the FAFSA' with a sub-heading 'Only students may use their FSA ID to log in. Parents and others can start a FAFSA for a student by entering the student's identifiers. Parents and others can also work on a FAFSA form or correction the student started using the Save Key that the student made. Help for parents.'

There are two radio button options for login: 'I am the student' (which is circled in red) and 'I am a parent, preparer, or student from a Freely Associated State'. Below these options, there is a note: 'Do not log in with the FSA ID if you are not the student. Don't have an FSA ID? Create one or login using the student's identifiers.'

The form fields include: 'The student's FSA ID Username or Verified E-mail Address' with a 'Forgot Username' link, and 'The student's FSA ID Password' with a 'Forgot Password' link. A 'NEXT' button is at the bottom right. At the bottom of the page, it says 'Site Last Updated: Sunday, July 22, 2018' and '©2010 fafsa.gov. All rights reserved.'

Students may log in using their FSA ID. Students are encouraged create their FSA ID prior to starting the FAFSA.

Parents may log in using the student's personal identifiers to access questions related to parent demographics and financial information. Parents will need the student's SAVE KEY (see page 9).

The screenshot shows the 'Login' page for the FAFSA system, but with the 'I am a parent, preparer, or student from a Freely Associated State' radio button selected (circled in red). The form fields include: 'The student's first name', 'The student's full last name', 'The student's Social Security Number' (with a 'Show SSN' checkbox and a 'From a Freely Associated State?' link), and 'The student's date of birth (mm/dd/yyyy)'. A 'NEXT' button is at the bottom right. At the bottom of the page, it says 'Site Last Updated: Tuesday, June 30, 2020' and '©2010 fafsa.gov. All rights reserved.'

Students who are high school seniors will likely indicate high school diploma for high school completion status. Additionally, even if they have dual enrollment or taken other college credits, most of these students will also indicate never attended college/1st year for their grade level in 2021–22.

Even if a student plans to pursue a graduate or professional degree, they should indicate their first degree, which will be a certificate; one of the associate degree options; or, 1st bachelor's degree.

Students who file a FAFSA are automatically considered for grants and student loans; students must opt-in to consideration for Federal Work Study.

Students are encouraged to respond “yes”; work study may be turned down later if not needed or desired.

The 'STUDENT INFORMATION' section contains the following questions and options:

- Are you male or female?
 Male Female
- Most male citizens and male immigrants must register with the Selective Service System to receive federal student aid.
- Are you registered with the Selective Service System?
 Yes No

The question asking about a student's sex is intended to determine if the student is required to be registered with the selective service. Students assigned male at birth, and who are over the age of 18, are required to register with the Selective Service, as it is an eligibility criterion for Federal Student Aid. The FAFSA does provide a mechanism for students to register for selective service through the form. Once a student has chosen their schools, they must indicate housing plans. Options include:

- With Parent
- On Campus
- Off Campus

The primary purpose of this is to help the school establish the student's budget for cost of attendance. For example, on campus housing would have a higher budget than living at home with a parent.

By selecting to View College Info, students can review several key statistics related to the college(s) listed on their FAFSA. This includes information pulled from the College Scorecard (collegescorecard.gov) on net price, graduation rates, retention rates, and transfer rates. Although these data may not be the pieces that make (or break) an enrollment decision, they should be considered in the decision-making process. For example, more than four years to graduate from a bachelor's degree program means more cost in tuition and fees, higher debt burden, and, an opportunity cost, due to lost wages from less time in the job market.

Students who file a FAFSA are considered dependent or independent. Dependent students are required to provide parent information; independent students are not required to do so. Dependency must meet one of the following criteria to be independent: students are independent if they are at least 24 years old; working on a master's or doctorate degree; married; providing more than 50% of the financial support for a child or another dependent; a veteran or serving on active duty in the military; emancipated by a court; in court-ordered legal guardianship; a ward of the court or in foster care; or considered homeless or self-supporting or at risk of being homeless. Students not meeting any of these criteria are dependent.

NOTE: There are some students who meet the definition of a dependent student, but who are unable to provide parent information. The student may be eligible to pursue a dependency override, which will be addressed on the next page.

Special Circumstances Qualifications

STUDENT INFORMATION

You may still be eligible for some type of federal student aid without providing parent information. Please read through the following options carefully.

Special Circumstances Option

You must contact the financial aid administrator at the college you plan to attend if you believe that you have a special circumstance that should be considered in determining your eligibility for federal student aid. However, not all situations are considered a special circumstance. For example, the following situations would not be considered as a special circumstance on their own:

- You do not live with your parents.
- Your parents don't provide you with financial support.
- Your parents refuse to contribute to your college expenses.
- Your parents don't claim you as a dependent on their income tax return.
- Your parents do not want to provide their information on your FAFSA.

Unsubsidized Loan Option

If you do not meet a requirement for a special circumstance and still choose to continue your application without providing parent information, you will only be considered for an Unsubsidized Loan. To request consideration for an Unsubsidized Loan, you must contact the financial aid administrator at the college you plan to attend.

Choose the appropriate option below based on your circumstances. ?

I have a special circumstance and am unable to provide information about my parent(s)

I do not have a special circumstance, and am submitting my FAFSA without parent information to apply for an unsubsidized loan only

Students who are dependent must provide information for a biological or adoptive parent. The parent(s) reported on the FAFSA is determined not only by marital status, but also by physical custody. The student should report the personal and financial information for the parent with whom they lived more than 50% of the time in the past year.

If the student lives with a biological parent who is remarried, the stepparent's information is required.

If the student splits time equally between two biological parents, the student would report the information of the parent who provides more than 50% of the financial support.

If the student lives with both biological parents together in one household, their marital status does not matter—both parents' information must be provided. One marital status option is Unmarried but Living Together.

Household size can be tricky to report on the FAFSA. Students should include themselves; their parent(s); any siblings who receive half of their support from the parent(s) and/or can answer “no” to every dependency question on the FAFSA; and, anyone else (e.g., grandparent) who lives with their parent(s) and receives more than half of their support from the student’s parent(s).

Parents who are enrolled in college may not include themselves in the total of number of people in the household who are in college. If parents are enrolled, they should speak with the financial aid office at the student’s college.

The student's parent(s) will be asked if they filed federal taxes for 2019. Not all families are required to file; "Not going to file" is a selection option. Please be aware that tax complications and errors can delay financial aid and, in some cases, prevent the student from accessing aid altogether. If there are any questions or concerns about a tax circumstance and how it might impact financial aid eligibility, please contact The Scholarship Foundation or the financial aid office at the student's college of choice.

IRS Data Retrieval Tool (DRT)

What is the IRS DRT?

An online function that allows for student and parent tax filers, who filed a federal tax return, to electronically transfer processed tax information from the IRS into a FAFSA.

Is it required?

No, it is not required. However, it is strongly encouraged.

What are the benefits of the IRS DRT?

There are several benefits. First, it eliminates the need to manually enter tax information, which can be inaccessible and, if available, difficult to enter. Second, it significantly reduces the likelihood of needing to undergo the process of verification related to income. Verification can extend the financial aid process, delaying financial aid award letters and a student's ability to make an informed enrollment decision.

What happens if I cannot transfer my data?

You may still submit a FAFSA, but you may be asked to verify income with the financial aid office at the school(s) to which you applied to for admission. This may mean providing copies of an IRS Tax Transcript, a summary of a processed tax return.

Will I be able to see my tax information after it transfers?

No. Transferred tax information is encrypted and will not be viewable on the FAFSA itself or the Student Aid Report. This change is an effort to increase security and privacy. Because transferred data is not viewable, edits are not allowed.

Are there any tax-filers who cannot transfer tax information from the IRS?

Married tax filers, who filed separate returns, cannot use the IRS DRT. Information will need to be input manually. In addition, legal parents who are not married, but reside in the same household, will also need to manually enter tax information.

Many of these items will transfer over from the IRS DRT; one exception is the question about payments to tax-deferred pension and retirement plans. This is a very common question for families to have to answer. Have W2s accessible when filing the FAFSA!

The asset question is dynamic. Every family has an asset protection allowance, which is determined by factors such as marital status and the age of the older parent. How this question presents will vary. For purposes of the FAFSA, not all assets are counted—it is important to report assets correctly. Parents will need to report the balance of cash, savings, and checking; the net worth of investments (NOTE: retirement accounts, such as 401Ks, 403Bs, etc. are NOT reportable assets on the FAFSA); and, the net worth of businesses (if applicable) are assets to be reported. If a family has assets that do not exceed the dollar amount given in the question, assets do not need to be reported at all.

Professional Judgement Review/Special Circumstances Appeal

Because the FAFSA is a form, there are many facets of a student and their family's experiences and circumstances that are not accounted for when applying for financial aid.

Upon submitting the FAFSA, a student may follow up with the college(s) they are applying to for admission and request that the school consider additional or new information. This process is typically referred to as either a professional judgement review or special circumstances appeal. Especially because many experienced significant changes in their lives because of COVID-19 and the economic devastation it brought in 2020, many applicants for financial aid will find that 2019 taxes no longer reflect their financial circumstances.

Students should contact the school if there has been a reduction or loss of income; change in employment for a member of the household; or other extenuating costs due to illness, hospitalization, etc. Please note, not all reasons to request a review or pursue an appeal will be directly related to COVID.

If a Student Advisor can assist you in navigating this process, please contact us by email at info@sfstl.org or phone at (314) 725-7990.

Frequently Asked Questions

If my parents are divorced, whose information do I need?

Report the information of the parent with whom you lived the most during the 12 months preceding the date you completed the FAFSA. It does not make a difference which parent claims you as a dependent for tax purposes. If you did not live with either parent or lived equally with each parent, the parental information must be provided for the parent from whom you received the most financial support during the preceding 12 months or the parent from whom you received the most support the last time support was given. If your parents are divorced, but still share a household (live under one roof together), both parents' information is required in the FAFSA.

What should I do if my parent with whom I live is remarried and my stepparent refuses to supply information?

If you are a dependent student and your parent is remarried, the stepparent's information is required. If you believe that your situation is unique or unusual other than the stepparent's simple refusal to provide the requested information, you should discuss the matter further with your financial aid administrator at the college or university which you plan to attend.

How are 529 savings plans reported on the FAFSA?

There are two types of Qualified Tuition Programs: tuition prepayment plans and college savings plans (529s). Both will have the plan value reported on the FAFSA as an asset of the owner (not the beneficiary), except when the owner is a dependent student, in which case the plan is an asset of the parent. So, regardless of whether student or parent is owner, it is always reported as an asset of the parent. The plan value is not reported as an asset if the owner is another person (i.e., grandparent or non-custodial parent). In addition, plan values of a student's sibling are also reported when the parent is the owner of the plans.

Whose income do I report if I live with a grandparent, aunt, etc. (other than a biological or adoptive parent)?

The FAFSA is very clear—only biological or adoptive parent information should be included in the FAFSA. Students who reside with a grandparent, aunt/uncle, or another adult may, depending on circumstances, be considered an independent student, which means no parent/guardian information is required. Otherwise, students may need to pursue a dependency override or begin conversations with a parent to secure necessary information.

That's great, but I still want help.

Help text is available and accessible for every question on the FAFSA if you apply online at fafsa.ed.gov. You can also get free live help online via this website.

Federal Student Aid (FSA) ID

Federal Student Aid IDs (FSA ID) are a username and password, created by the individual student and/or parent. FSA IDs are used to sign the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and, as a result, are a crucial part of the FAFSA-completion process. All FAFSA-filers are required to create an FSA ID; if the student is dependent, a parent is strongly advised to create one as well. Here are a few recommendations regarding the FSA IDs.

- Create an FSA ID at <https://fsaid.ed.gov>.
- FSA IDs are linked to the user's Social Security Number. Please double check that the name, birthdate, and SSN used on the FSA ID application match what is listed on your Social Security card.
- Users are required to link an email address to their FSA ID; a second step in this process is verifying the email address by entering a secure code that has been sent to the email address listed on the application. The FSA ID is not finalized until the email address has been verified. Remember:
 - 1. A verified email address can be used interchangeably with the username, offering greater flexibility.
 - 2. If the username and/or password are forgotten, a user may send a secure code to their verified email, which allows for easier retrieval and/or reset.
- Users may also link a cell phone number to their FSA ID; again, a second step in this process is verifying the cell phone number by entering a secure code that has been sent by text message to the cell number listed. Doing so is strongly encouraged for two reasons:
 - 1. A verified cell phone number can be used interchangeably with the username, offering greater flexibility.
 - 2. If the username and/or password are forgotten, a user may send a secure code to their verified cell phone number, which allows for easier retrieval and/or reset.
- Show text when answering challenge questions to ensure they are typed as intended.
- Write everything down and save in a safe, secure spot.
- Although it is understandable the many reasons why students create parent FSA IDs (and vice versa), it is advisable to avoid this unless absolutely necessary. When it is necessary, one suggestion is to use the same password for both accounts, to minimize what detail needs to be remembered.
